

Claim/disclaim content in Pure

This instruction contains:

- How to search and find articles in Pure you are not already related to
- How to claim publications already in Pure
- How to disclaim publications in Pure you are wrongfully related to

Search and find publications in Pure

To navigate to the search bar you should click the “personal” bottom in the top bar in the starting page, and afterwards the “my research output” in the drop-down menu.

Personal

New overview Private

 Janis Dower
My public profile
Curricula vitae (2)
Edit profile

2 h-index | 423 Usage | 202 Captures | 1 Social Media | 16 Citations
Sum of PlumX metrics for 3 of your 7 research outputs in Pure and updates since last login date.
Read more about PlumX View research outputs with PlumX data

Research outputs (7)			Activities (4)			Teaching and supervision (1)
Journal article	Conference abstract for...	Poster	Talks and presentations in...	Editor of research journal	Membership of research network...	Teaching
5	1	1	2	1	1	1

Pure University of Southern Denmark

Personal

Research outputs
My research output
+ New

Activities
Editable
My activities
+ New

Prizes
Editable
My prizes
+ New

Curricula Vitae
My curricula vitae

When searching in the search bar you only search amongst the publications shown on your profile. The reason for this is a filter called 'My content'. It is shown directly below the search bar.

Clicking the 'x' on the 'My content' filter will remove the filter and show all the publications in Pure.

It is possible that the publication already is imported or registered in Pure. It will result in duplicates in the system if you register the publication again.

In the search bar you can search for a publication's title or part of it and you will be shown all the posts in Pure where these words appear.

How to claim content in Pure

If you find the article you were looking for, you can click the 'title.'

Id: 66172817

Mara and Paracuellos - Interpretations of Spanish Politics from the Perspective of the Comics
 Publication: Research - peer-review › Journal article

EDIT

Metrics

OVERVIEW

Relations

Display

BFI

BFI information

NOTIFICATIONS

Editors responsible for handling this submission: lovi@bib.sdu.dk, rjh@bib.sdu.dk, ifs@bib.sdu.dk, logr@bib.sdu.dk, lena@bib.sdu.dk, and 8 others

Last saved: 23/11/2015 16:14

Status: Validated

Save Claim this content

The information about the publication will look differently than the ones already related to you. If you can recognize the publication as one you co-authored you can ask to be added to the publication by pressing 'Claim this content'.

Do you want to be added to this content?
 If so - send this message to the responsible editor.

Message (optional)

You will receive a message when the content is updated

Cancel Claim this content

When you have pressed the 'Claim this content' this window appears. In order to finish the request, you have to press the "Claim this content" button.

Only after a Pure editor has added you to the content will you be able to see the publication in Pure the same way as you see your other publications in Pure.

If you need to see only your own content again you can always add the 'My content' filter again. You find it by clicking the filter icon again and picking the 'My content' filter. The filters will appear alphabetically.

How to disclaim content in Pure

If you have been added as author on content in Pure you have not authored, you can easily ask to be removed from the content.

You do this by scrolling down to the 'Authors and affiliations' section on the publication and pressing the minus in the same line as your name appears.

When you do that this box appears. You can choose to write a message. This can be a good idea if you want to be removed from the publication because it is a double entry in Pure or because you do not want it to appear on your profile. When pressing 'Disclaim this content' a message will be sent to the Pure office asking us to remove you as author on the content.

Contact and Questions

If you need further help, please feel free to always contact the Pure Office at T 65 50 24 30 or mail puresupport@bib.sdu.dk.

/The Pure Office

Updated 16/07/2019