IC theatre workshops in English

We will focus on the fundamental principles of theatre.

The workshops are suitable for both beginners and experienced people, as well as everyone interested in theatre. The exercises will focus on exploring/improving body language, communication, expression, space, improvisation and coordination of the body and voice.

Physical exercises: Basic theatre exercises to develop and register "me", "the other" and "the space".
Improvisations.

Vocal exercises: Resonators, body and voice and how to use the body to improve the voice (projection, tone and volume).

PROGRAMME

Workshop days: Six Tuesdays from 19.00 to 21:00 at SDU, room 096, started in April but you can still come!

To sign up, please contact Andrea, the instructor at: andrea.albernaz1@gmail.com

Falling in love is like owning a dog

First of all, it's a big responsibility, especially in a city like New York. So think long and hard before deciding on love. On the other hand, love gives you a sense of security: when you're walking down the street late at night and you have a leash on love ain't no one going to mess with you. Because crooks and muggers think love is unpredictable. Who knows what love could do in its own defense? On cold winter nights, love is warm. It lies between you and lives and breathes and makes funny noises. Love wakes you up all hours of the night with its needs. It needs to be fed so it will grow and stay healthy. Love doesn't like being left alone for long. But come home and love is always happy to see you. It may break a few things accidentally in its passion for life, but you can never be mad at love for long. Is love good all the time? No! No! Love can be bad. Bad, love, bad! Very bad love. Love makes messes. Love leaves you little surprises here and there. Love needs lots of cleaning up after. Sometimes you just want to get love fixed. Sometimes you want to roll up a piece of newspaper and swat love on the nose, not so much to cause pain, just to let love know Don't you ever do that again! Sometimes love just wants to go for a nice long walk. Because love loves exercise. It runs you around the block and leaves you panting. It pulls you in several different directions at once, or winds around and around you until you're all wound up and can't move. But love makes you meet people wherever you go. People who have nothing in common but love stop and talk to each other on the street. Throw things away and love will bring them back, again, and again, and again. But most of all, love needs love, lots of it. And in return, love loves you and never stops.

Chat in Danish at the Language Café

The Language Café is the place where people meet on a daily basis – it is the heart of the house. In friendly and cozy surroundings you can learn Danish: write, read, practise pronunciation, play with the language, and get help with your homework. You can also get help with reading and understanding letters, bills, etc. In addition to the regular staff, the Language Café includes around 30 volunteers who help out every week. If interested contact:
