

Danish CHOICE MODELLING DAY

Danish Choice Modelling Day 2012
University of Southern Denmark

TUESDAY, December 4
Room: 99
Time 09.30-10.00
Registration and coffee
Time 10.00-12.30
Workshop on experimental designs Professor John Rose, University of Sydney
Time 12.30-13.30
Lunch Restaurant Campus
Time 13.30-14.30
Workshop, continued Professor John Rose, University of Sydney

Time 14.45-17.15

Paper Presentation:

14.45-15.15

The role of personal values in predicting environmentally motivated choice behavior: Evidence from Canada

Carola Grebitus, Bodo Steiner and Michele Veeman

15.15-15.45

Status quo stickiness and the effect of panel condition

Jacob Ladenburg

15.45-16.15

The arbitrary choice of price vector. Investigating the price vector effect in a pilot discrete choice experiment valuating risk reductions in death

Trine Kjær, Dorte Gyrd-Hansen and Jytte Seested Nielsen

16.15-16.45

Issues and challenges in defining stated-preference choice experiment quality criteria for systematic reviews of socio-economic impacts of genetically modified crops

Jaqueline Garcia-Yi, Kristine Van Herck, Johan Swinnen and Justus Wesseler

16.45-17.15

Will providing a real economic incentive make respondents behave differently? An empirical choice experiment investigation

Morten Raun Mørkbak, Søren Bøye Olsen, Sigrid Denver, and Danny Campbell

Time 17.15-18.00

Café workshop

Incl. Snacks

WEDNESDAY, December 5

Rooms 96 and 98

Time 9.30-10.00

Registration and coffee

Time 10.00-10.05

Welcome

Time 10.05-11.05

Key note speaker

Professor Mogens Fosgerau, Technical University of Denmark

A theory of the perturbed consumer with general budgets

Time 11.05-11.15

Coffee break

Time 11.15-13.15

Paper presentations:

11.15-11.45

Eliciting preferences for redistribution: choice modelling in public economics

Christian Pfarr and Volker Ulrich

11.45-12.15

Behavioural insights in attribute non-attendance – using the latent variable approach

Søren Bøye Olsen and Morten Raun Mørkbak

12.15-12.45

How can young doctors be attracted to become general practitioners?

Jon H. Holte, Birgit Abelsen, Trine Kjær, Jan Abel Olsen

12.45-13.15

A choice experiment to evaluate small-holder farmers' preferences for improved native chili pepper variety traits in the Northern coast of Peru

Jaqueline Garcia-Yi, Ulrike Grote, and Justus Wesseler

Time 13.15-14.15

Lunch Restaurant Campus

Time 14.15-15.15

Key note speaker

Professor John Rose, University of Sydney

“Common mistakes in discrete choice modelling: A guide to mistakes that even the so called experts make”

Time 15.00-15.15

Coffee break

Time 15.30-17.30

Paper presentations:

15.30-16.00

Hybrid Choice Modelling Allowing for Reference-Dependent Preferences: The Case of Alternative-Fuel Vehicles in Denmark

Stefan L. Mabit, Elisabetta Cherchi, and Anders F. Jensen

16.00-16.30

The choice of hunting and trading bushmeat in the Kilombero Valley of Tanzania: Will enforcement or alternatives most efficiently dissuade market actors?

Martin Reinhardt Nielsen

16.30-17.00

Investigating alternative non-attendance and other decision processing strategies in food choice

Ole Bonnichsen, Morten Raun Mørkbak, and Søren Bøye Olsen

17.00-17.30

French consumers' preference toward eco-labelled seafood

Xianwen Chen, Frode Alfnes, Kyrre Rickertsen

Time 17.30- 17.45

Evaluation and goodbye

Time 18.30 -

Dinner