

Synergies

Bridging the Gap Between Traditional and Digital Literary Studies

The Black Diamond, Copenhagen, September 27-29, 2020

Organized by the Network for Digital Literary Studies and The Royal Danish Library

Program

September 27

13.30-14.30 Registration and coffee

14.30-15.30 Online lecture 1: Richard Jean So (McGill): "Literary History, Signal and Noise"

15.30-16.00 Light lunch

16.00-17.00 Online lecture 2: Elizabeth Evans (Cornell) & Matthew Wilkins (Cornell): "The New Literary Geography"

17.00-17.15 Short break

17.15-18.15 Online lecture 3: Franco Moretti (Stanford) "The Road to Rome. Literary Studies, Hermeneutics, Quantification."

18.15-18.30 Coffee/fruit/cake

18.30-19.30 Online lecture 4: Ted Underwood (Illinois): "'What Have We Learned So Far?'"

19.30 Wine reception

September 28

9.00-10.30 Lecture 5: Katie Muth (Durham): "Finding Pynchon"

10.30-10.45 Coffee break

10.45-12.15 Paper session 1: McLachlan · Duggan · Berglund

12.15-13.00 Light lunch

13.00-14.30 Lecture 6: Nina Tahmasebi (Gothenburg): "The Strengths and Pitfalls of Large-Scale Text Mining for Literary Studies".

14.30-14.45 Coffee/fruit/cake

14.45-16.15 Paper session 2: Cooley · Vimr · Ingvarsson

16.15-16.30 Short break

16.30-18.00 Paper session 3: Sobchuk · Holgate · Zhang

18.30 Conference dinner

September 29

10.00-10.30 Brainstorm session: Companion Website to Literature: An Introduction to Theory and Analysis

10.30-10.45 Coffee break

10.30-12.15 Paper session 4: Schommer · Calvo · Bjerring-Hansen

12.15-13.00 Light lunch

13.00-14.30 Lecture 8: Fotis Jannidis (Würzburg): "Genre and Distant Reading. The Semantic Description of Hybrid Constellations".

15.00 End of conference

Catering and Conference Dinner

Lunch and afternoon coffee will be provided for all registered conference attendants. Please register online using the following link <https://www.eventbrite.com/e/synergies-bridging-the-gap-between-traditional-digital-literary-studies-registration-119573779393>. Conference dinner on 28th of September in Copenhagen app. 550 DKK (including wine).

We look forward to welcoming you in Copenhagen!

