

Call for Papers to the 6th Meeting of the SDU Workshop on Applied Microeconomics

Organizers: Christian M. Dahl (University of Southern Denmark)
N. Meltem Daysal (University of Southern Denmark)
Peter Sandholt Jensen (University of Southern Denmark)

Place: University of Southern Denmark
Campusvej 55, 5230 Odense M, Denmark
Room: U53

Date: May 20, 2019

This annual workshop aims to bring together researchers investigating issues of relevance to current public policy. We invite submissions from all fields of applied microeconomics, including (but not restricted to): labor, health and development economics, economics of education, and demography.

This year, one session will be devoted to topics related to “Demography and Economics” and one session will be devoted to topics concerning “Health and Labor Market Outcomes.” Examples of suitable topics include:

- Aging, retirement and health
- Early-life health and later-life socio-economic outcomes
- Medical innovations and productivity

The papers should pay particular attention to the identification of causal relationships using rigorous econometric techniques. Preference will be given to papers that are well developed yet can still benefit from group discussion. The keynote speaker is Bhash Mazumder (Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago).

The workshop will last for one day. The number of participants is limited to 25, with a maximum of 8-10 invited and contributed papers. The workshop program, travel and accommodation assistance will be provided on the workshop webpage. Participation is free of charge and includes registration, breakfast, lunch, and refreshments. Participants are expected to cover their own transportation and accommodation costs (if needed).

Researchers interested in presenting their work should send an extended abstract or preferably a full paper to sdu.applied.micro@gmail.com no later than April 1, 2019. Notifications of acceptance will be sent by April 15, 2019. Presenters and other participants should register no later than April 22, 2019 by sending an email to sdu.applied.micro@gmail.com. Please include contact information and whether you have any special dietary restrictions.

Looking forward to seeing you in Odense!
