

Special ones? The effect of head coaches on football team performance

April 3rd, 2019
14-15, Room 1A+1B

Professor Rob Simmons
Department of Economics,
Lancaster University, UK

Dr. Rob Simmons is professor of economics in the Department of Economics, Lancaster University Management School. He received his PhD in economics from the University of Leeds. His research in sports economics has been published in many internationally recognised journals including Review of Economics and Statistics, Economic Inquiry, Labour Economics and Journal of the Royal Statistical Society.

He has published over 70 papers in pre-reviewed journals. He is presently co-editor of Economic Inquiry and serves on the editorial boards of the Journal of Sports Economics and the International Journal of Sport Finance.