

SEBE Department Seminar

2 May 2018

Time: 14.00–15.00

Room: 1A+1B

The effects of energy price and carbon taxation on the French manufacturing sector

Damien Dussaux

Center of Industrial Economics, MINES
ParisTech, Paris, France

Damien Dussaux is a Post-Doc at the Center of Industrial Economics of MINES ParisTech, PSL Research University since October 2017. He is also Visiting Fellow at the Grantham Research Institute on Climate Change and the Environment of the London School of Economics and Political Science since October 2017.

He completed his PhD at MINES ParisTech, PSL Research University, CERNA – Center of Industrial Economics (Paris – France). PhD thesis is entitled "The effects of environmental regulations on waste trade, clean innovation, and competitiveness in a globalized world". Previously, he graduated as an Environmental Science Engineer from AgroParisTech and has a master's degree in Environmental and Energy Economics obtained at AgroParisTech (Paris – France).

Damien Dussaux's research interests include competitiveness impacts of environmental policies, environmental impacts of international trade, innovation in lean technologies, and international technology diffusion.