

ADAM MICKIEWICZ
UNIVERSITY
POZNAŃ

Sciences Po Strasbourg
École de l'Université de Strasbourg

EPICUR Triple Master's Programme in European Geopolitics, International Security and Law (EGISL) 2026/2027 Academic Year Intake

Excellence Without Borders

Three Universities; Three Degrees; A Unique Three-Country Journey

Co-funded by the European Union

EPICUR
EUROPEAN UNIVERSITY

A truly European learning experience: live and study across Europe!

The EPICUR Master's Programme in European Geopolitics, International Security and Law (EGISL) is a highly selective, English-taught programme for students seeking more than a traditional Master's degree. Each year, only 15 students join a single international cohort and study across three European countries.

A Programme for Today's Global Challenges

EGISL provides you with an integrated understanding of European and international law, security, geopolitics, borders, and territorial diplomacy, equipping you to tackle a wide range of European and global challenges while building the practical skills and global network needed for a high-impact career.

The programme is jointly delivered by:

Adam Mickiewicz University
Poznań (AMU), Poland

University of Southern Denmark (SDU)
Odense, Denmark

Sciences Po Strasbourg,
Université de Strasbourg (Unistra)
Strasbourg, France

Through full academic mobility, you will spend each of your first three semesters at one of the leading European universities, all members of the EPICUR Alliance. This experience provides first-hand exposure to different perspectives of the international system, teaching methods, and cultural contexts - building adaptability and intercultural skills.

Who is this programme for?

- 🎯 Students with an academic background in international relations, political science, law, European studies, contemporary history, or related fields.
- 🎯 Strong interest in geopolitics, security, borders, diplomacy, and European and international law.
- 🎯 Motivation for a mobile, international study experience.
- 🎯 Career ambitions in European or global institutions, policy, research, or academia

Why choose this programme?

- ✔ An integrated focus on law, geopolitics, international relations, and security studies.
- ✔ Earn three full Master's degrees (subject to eligibility and academic requirements at each partner university) from AMU, SDU, and Unistra.
- ✔ Build real-world skills through crisis simulations, negotiation exercises, and hands-on workshops.
- ✔ Prepare for European and global careers in EU institutions, foreign ministries, international organisations, and the private sector.

Programme Structure and Mobility Pathway

European and International Law at:
Poznań (AMU)

International Security and Law at:
Odense (SDU)

Geopolitics, Borders and Territorial Diplomacy
at: Strasbourg (Unistra)

Master's Thesis
(Mandatory)

Programme at a glance

📍 Study across three campuses:
S1 AMU, Poznań (PL); S2 SDU, Odense (DK); S3 Sciences Po Strasbourg, Unistra (FR)

🌐 Language of Instruction: English

🕒 Duration: Full-time - 2 years – 120 ECTS

🎓 Three full Master's degrees:

- MSc in European and International Law from AMU
- MSc in International Security and Law, from SDU
- Master in Geopolitics, Borders and Territorial Diplomacy, from Unistra

Career opportunities

- International & European Organisations
- Diplomacy & International Relations
- Government & Public Authorities
- Foreign ministries, defence
- NGOs & Think Tanks
- Private Sector & International Consultancy: Political risk analysis, cybersecurity
- Eligibility for PhD programmes across Europe

Academic coordination and teaching staff

Prof. Katarzyna Klafkowska-Wasniowska

Head of EGISL & European and International Law programmes
Faculty of Law and Administration, at Adam Mickiewicz University, Poznań

Prof. Vincent Keating

Programme Responsible
EGISL & International Security and Law Master's Programmes
Department of Political Science and Public Management at University of Southern Denmark, Odense

Prof. Birte Wassenberg

Head of EGISL & Geopolitics, Borders and Territorial Diplomacy Master's Programmes at Sciences Po Strasbourg, Université de Strasbourg

For more information, contact the university you wish to apply to :

Adam Mickiewicz University

Karolina Pelka-Gawlik: karolina.pelka-gawlik@amu.edu.pl

University of Southern Denmark

Michelle Sloth Christensen: egisl@sam.sdu.dk

Sciences Po Strasbourg

Lorraine Marchal: jep-doublediplome@unistra.fr // Suada Mehmeti: suada.mehmeti@unistra.fr

