IMPORTANT: It is possible to register your results simultaneously, but it is not recommended. It can be confusing because there will be changes on the screen that your co-assessor has made while you are registering your results.

<< Assessment form overview Save

The form shows information about the exam, the assessors/examiners and the administrator along with a list of students attending the exam.

Note: If the "date"-field has already been filled in when you open the form, it means that your co-assessor has already registered his/her results. Two ticks will appear in the "status"-field when you have registered your results and clicked on "Save", showing that the results have been cross-checked and saved correctly.

Status

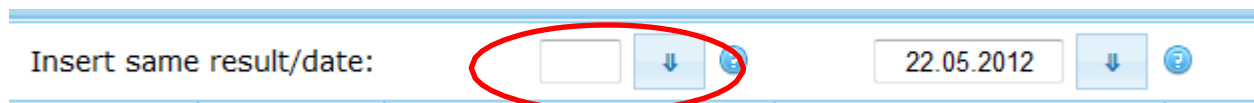

You can always see how far you are in the process in the "Status" field. Click on the question mark or on the status icon itself if you are in doubt as to the meaning of, for example, a single tick.

Enter the same results and/or dates for all students

It is possible to make two types of common entries for all students. This can be helpful with very large forms containing many students.

You can register a single common assessment date and/or a single common result for all the students on the form. You can then make corrections for individual students if necessary. Register the information and then click on the arrow next to the field.

Insert same result/date:

Assessment date

It is recommended that you normally take the actual date of registering the results as the assessment date. Note, however, that the date registered must be the date that you and your co-assessor have agreed on as the assessment date (not the same as the examination date in case of written exams, and not the date that you enter the results). You cannot register a future date. If the field is already filled in when you open the form, it means that your co-assessor has already registered a result.

Note: You and your co-assessor must agree on the assessment date before you begin registration of results.

Result

You can only register a single common result for all the students if the assessment type is Passed (B)/Failed (I).

Exam language

The exam language is the language in which the examination is conducted. If no exam language was indicated on the exam enrolment, then by default the exam language will be set to Danish (DK). If the language is set incorrectly, you must correct it.

The examination language, assessment date and the result can all be changed by the second assessor. When the second assessor has registered and saved the results, no further changes can be made in the values registered. Contact the administrator if necessary.

Incorrect registrations

If you make an incorrect entry, this will be indicated as soon as you leave the field in question:

- You will see an error message with a detailed description of the error.
- The field containing the error will be marked in red.

After clicking on "OK" in the error message, you must return and correct the content of the field in question, after which the red marking will disappear. In most instances you will be able to correct the error yourself.

When all results have been registered

You can either save your results as you go along, or after you have entered in all the results. It is always a good idea to save regularly, especially when you are dealing with large assessment forms containing many students.

When you are ready, click "Save".

IMPORTANT: It may take several minutes for the system to save your results. Do not close your browser before you are certain that the system has finished working, or you will lose the results. The "status"-column will indicate that your results have been saved correctly with either one or two ticks.

Completed forms

When both examiners have registered the results and the entries agree, the assessment form will move from "My assessment forms" to "Completed assessment forms".
